ENMAX Power NEW Requirement for Underground Residential Development Projects - Initial Payment prior to UIDP Step 0 Review

ENMAX Power ("EPC") will require an initial payment to initiate an Underground Residential Development project beginning May 1, 2024. As a regulated utility, ENMAX Power has a responsibility to recover costs to produce a preliminary design, an Issued-for-Review ("IFR") design and a Quote Letter in the event a project does not proceed to construction.

Submitting the Initial Payment

1. The Developer/consultant must submit the Step 0 request along with all the required information as set out in the URD Integrated Design Process (UIDP) to ENMAX Power at EPCprocessURD@enmax.com
2. The Team Lead or the Senior Engineer of URD Design will review the request submitted and facilitate project setup through ENMAX Power's Project Intake Team GetConnected@enmax.com.
3. Getconnected@enmax.com will reach out to the developer/consultant with an initial payment letter.
4. Once the letter has been signed and submitted back to ENMAX Power with payment, the Team Lead of URD Design or the Senior Engineer will complete the Step 0 review, which begins the UIDP process.

The initial payment amount will be determined by the lot count listed on the Step 0 checklist.

For 2024, the initial payment costs will be as follows:

Lot Count	Initial Payment Amount (does not include GST)
0-50	$25,000
51-99	$25,000
100-149	$30,000
150-199	$35,000
200+	$40,000

Please note: The initial payment amount will be deducted from the final project cost.

Should you have any questions, please contact Jesse Retzlaff, Manager, URD & Customer Choice at 403-689-0106 or jretzlaff@enmax.com.

Jesse Retzlaff
Manager, URD & Customer Choice